

NVIDIA Corp

Growth powered by market-leading, best-in-class GPUs

25 May 2026

Company Overview

NVIDIA Corporation is a full-stack computing infrastructure company. The Company accelerates computing to help solve the computational problems. The Company's segments include Compute & Networking and Graphics. Compute & Networking segment includes its data center accelerated computing platform; networking; automotive artificial intelligence (AI), cockpit, autonomous driving development agreements and autonomous vehicle solutions; electric vehicle computing platforms; NVIDIA AI Enterprise and other software.

Investment Overview

Long-term, structural demand for AI applications. Nvidia commands a leading and dominant market share in the AI-chips. GPUs designed and built by Nvidia for data centers are cutting edge and market leading, and are preferred to support high-powered computing and artificial intelligence. Nvidia's relentless pursuit is affirmed by its plan to upgrade its AI accelerators every year, with upcoming Rubin to replace the current Blackwell generation.

Revenue visibility over the near- and medium-term. Nvidia, the market leader for AI-chips, continues to achieve new heights with each passing quarter. Management's upbeat 1QFY27 revenue guidance of USD78bn, which implies a record sequential q/q increase of USD13bn, further reinforces confidence in the durability of the ongoing AI investment cycle, alongside recovery of gross margins back towards the 75% range in the coming quarter. Its medium-term revenue visibility is underpinned by its ambitious milestone of USD1trn in cumulative AI chip revenue through CY2027 (FY28F), doubling the earlier USD500bn target through CY2025/26 (FY26/27F).

We maintain our BUY call with a higher target price of USD250. We lift our target price to USD250, pegged to FY27F forward P/BV valuation peg of 20x (in line with its 3-year average). Near-term AI momentum remains achievable on the back of rising CAPEX commitment by key hyperscalers, continued sovereign AI buildout, alongside expectations for smooth Blackwell-to-Rubin transition, which feed through positively to its eye-watering USD1trn revenue target. We remain positive on Nvidia as the leading AI-chip leader, and note the bar for Nvidia has been raised higher as the world's largest chipmaker and stock, with greater expectation to deliver on this AI/DC momentum.

Risks

Increased scrutiny and expectation as the world's largest stock. Rising competition from other chipmakers eyeing.
